AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM ANNUAL CONFERENCE
CIRCUITS OF INFLUENCE :
U.S., ISRAEL, AND PALESTINE
20 COOPER SQ., 4TH FLOOR | FEB 28TH — MARCH 1ST

Following an unprecedented wave of public dialogue in response to the American Studies Association's recent endorsement of a boycott of Israeli academic institutions, this conference addresses the convergence between international justice movements and emerging scholarly directions within the increasingly transnational field of American Studies. What is the history of the circuits of influence between the U.S., Israel and Palestine? How has recent American Studies scholarship on the political economy of racialization, empire, and settler colonialism led to the highlighting of this particular "triangle"? What can we learn from the record of using boycotts as a tactic and substantive challenge to systems of injustice?

In addition to a film-focused event the evening before, the conference will host panels on the following topics: geopolitics of the region, new directions in American Studies scholarship, and the history and practice of boycotts.

“I don’t think that it’s a coincidence that this happened right after divestment...I feel like there were a lot of anti-Semitic feelings after divestment.” – Member of Jewish fraternity at UC Davis after swastikas found on the fraternity house

“When incidents like this happen, it’s scary. This person [responsible for the graffiti] doesn’t know me but they hate me just because of the single aspect that I’m Jewish – President of Jewish Student Organization at University of Missouri following two incidents of swastikas and on-going BDS activity

Anti-Semitic Expression During Divestment Votes in Student Senates

(Anti-Israel Divestment Vote at UC Santa Barbara April 2015)

"I am disgusted by the normalization of anti-Semitic language so casually thrown around at the [divestment] meeting. In those eight hours, I was told that Jews control the government, that all Jews are rich, that Zionism is racism, that the marginalization of Jewish students is justified because it prevents the marginalization of other minority groups...I saw students smile and cheer enthusiastically as a woman stood up and said the words, 'I am ashamed to be a Jew.' " -- Margaux, UCSB Student

Anti-Jewish Discrimination Against Candidates for Student Government

April 2015: Molly Horwitz, a Stanford junior running for the student senate, was asked in an interview with the Students of Color Coalition by a pro-BDS member: “Given your strong Jewish identity, how would you vote on divestment?”

February 2015: Rachel Beyda, a UCLA sophomore and candidate for the student judicial board, was asked by a student council member who had sponsored the anti-Israel divestment resolution: “Given that you are a Jewish student and very active in the Jewish community, how do you see yourself being able to maintain an unbiased view?”

Jewish Student Voices

- “About two months ago when SJP (Students for Justice in Palestine) started the ‘DePaul Divest’ campaign, I no longer felt safe on this campus and I no longer felt I could be a proud Jewish student.” – DePaul University
- “I don’t want to wear my Jewish star on campus...I don’t want to wear anything that has Israel on it or any connection to Judaism at all. I don’t want to have a target on my back” – Kean University
- “I am terrified knowing I may not be able to discuss my Judaism without taunts, or worse, violence.” – Northwestern University
- “As a Jewish student on this campus, and the grandson of Holocaust survivors, I was disgusted and horrified by the anti-Semitic comments on Yik Yak.” – SDSU
- “I’m tired of antisemitism being a completely normal occurrence, and people standing idly by because as long as they are only going after the Jews nobody cares.” – Temple University
- “These attacks on my identity and rights to self-determination have not only affected me emotionally, but have had devastating effects on my academics and have hindered my purpose on this campus – to be a student.” – UCLA
- “For the first time in my life, I felt that my identity, an unchangeable part of who I am, was under attack and my entire existence as a Jew was being questioned.” – UCSB

Stripping Jewish Students of Federal Protection under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 provides that “no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color or nation of origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial Assistance”.

Until August 2013, there were 3 Title VI complaints alleging anti-Jewish discrimination on California campuses:

- UC Irvine
- UC Berkeley
- UC Santa Cruz (my complaint)

~~Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 provides that “no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color or nation of origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial Assistance”.~~

~~Currently there are 3 Title VI complaints alleging anti-Jewish discrimination on California campuses:~~

- ~~• UC Santa Cruz (my complaint)~~

“The abuse of civil rights laws to silence political views tramples on the First Amendment, and is already causing a tangible, detrimental impact on Arab, Muslim, and other students who espouse particular views of the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. That contravenes the spirit of Title VI and of our Constitution. And it wrongly conflates Jewish identity with uncritical support for Israel.” - Liz Jackson, Center for Constitutional Rights

Anti-Israel student, legal and civil rights groups claimed that the use of Title VI for the protection of Jewish students violates the free speech rights of Arab and Muslim students:

- November 2012 - MSA and SJP groups from CA universities sent a letter to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.
- December 2012 - the Asian Law Caucus, American Muslims for Palestine, CAIR, National Lawyers Guild and the Center for Constitutional Rights sent a statement to the United Nations Human Rights Committee.
- May 2013 - 7 anti-Israel legal and civil rights groups sent a letter to DOE’s Office of Civil Rights in San Francisco.

AUGUST 17, 2013 - SF-OCR DISMISSED ALL 3 TITLE VI COMPLAINTS

Student Resolutions Condemning Anti-Semitism and the U.S. State Department Definition

Student Senate Resolutions Condemning Anti-Semitism: UC Berkeley, UC Los Angeles, UC Santa Barbara

All three Resolutions:

- Use the U.S. State Department's definition of anti-Semitism to identify and condemn anti-Semitism, and UCLA and UCSB cite the full definition in the body of the resolution, including the part relative to Israel.
- Resolve that their student senates will adopt the U.S. State Department's definition of anti-Semitism, and UCSB adds: "as well as the State Department's understanding relative to Israel."
- Resolve that their student senates will respect the right of the Jewish campus community "to define, within the guidelines of the national definition [UCB: put forth by the United States State Department], what is and is not anti-Semitic, in the same manner in which other communities are granted that right."

US State Department's Definition of Anti-Semitism

Contemporary Examples of Anti-Semitism

- Calling for, aiding, or justifying the killing or harming of Jews (often in the name of a radical ideology or an extremist view of religion).
- Making mendacious, dehumanizing, demonizing, or stereotypical allegations about Jews as such or the power of Jews as a collective—especially but not exclusively, the myth about a world Jewish conspiracy or of Jews controlling the media, economy, government or other societal institutions.
- Accusing Jews as a people of being responsible for real or imagined wrongdoing committed by a single Jewish person or group, the state of Israel, or even for acts committed by non-Jews.
- Accusing the Jews as a people, or Israel as a state, of inventing or exaggerating the Holocaust.
- Accusing Jewish citizens of being more loyal to Israel, or to the alleged priorities of Jews worldwide, than to the interest of their own nations.

US State Department's Definition of Anti-Semitism

What is Anti-Semitism Relative to Israel?

EXAMPLES of the ways in which anti-Semitism manifests itself with regard to the state of Israel, taking into account the overall context could include:

DEMONIZE ISRAEL:

- Using the symbols and images associated with classic anti-Semitism to characterize Israel or Israelis
- Drawing comparisons of contemporary Israeli policy to that of the Nazis
- Blaming Israel for all inter-religious or political tensions

DOUBLE STANDARD FOR ISRAEL:

- Applying double standards by requiring of it a behavior not expected or demanded of any other democratic nation
- Multilateral organizations focusing on Israel only for peace or human rights investigations

DELEGITIMIZE ISRAEL:

- Denying the Jewish people their right to self-determination, and denying Israel the right to exist

However, criticism of Israel similar to that leveled against any other country cannot be regarded as anti-Semitic.
