University of Washington Community Statement of Solidarity with the Palestinian People

To sign the statement, please email us at wascholars4palestine@gmail.com. Please include your name, title, affiliation (faculty, staff, student, alumni), and campus.

We, members of the University of Washington Tri-Campus community (Bothell, Seattle, and Tacoma),* condemn the ongoing attacks on the Palestinian people in East Jerusalem, Gaza, and across historical Palestine. As faculty, staff, students, and alumni, we understand these attacks as the most recent expressions of the ongoing project to uproot Palestinian life from Palestinian land, a project that has long deployed repertoires of violence that blend death and destruction with economic, political, legal, cultural, and geographic tactics. Our condemnation targets both the spectacular and the mundane fronts of this project.

We condemn the reinvigoration of campaigns to evict Palestinian families from the Sheikh Jarrah, Silwan, & Wadi al-Jouz neighborhoods of Jerusalem—part of a decades-long program of using law, discrimination, physical destruction, and terror to advance Israel's piecemeal confiscation of the entire city in contravention of international law.

We condemn Israel's deadly bombings of the Gaza Strip, which have already taken hundreds of lives, displaced thousands of people, and destroyed civilian infrastructure—including media offices, hospitals, and schools—in one of the most densely populated places on the planet. The military assault extends a nearly fifteen-year blockade of the region that has turned the territory into an open-air prison for two million people, most of whom descended from refugees expelled and driven from their homes during the Nakba (1947-1949) that accompanied the creation of the state of Israel. The ongoing COVID-19 pandemic is still raging in Gaza, and the all-out Israeli assault, which the Israeli Defense Minister ominously vowed to continue until there is “complete quiet” in the Strip, is now exacerbating an already dire humanitarian crisis.

We mourn all loss of life. We also refuse the “both sides” narrative that ignores and conceals the meaningful differences and asymmetry of power between Israel—one of the most heavily militarized states in the world that receives $3.8 billion of military aid annually from the United States—and a Palestinian population resisting continuous dispossession, denationalization, and erasure.

We stand in solidarity with the Palestinian people in their indigenous liberation struggle against forced dispossession by the Israeli settler colonial state. Israel is engaged in apartheid, a brutal system of territorial theft, Jewish supremacy, violence, and Palestinian political marginalization that affects Palestinians all over the world. This is the analysis endorsed by the Israeli human rights organization B’tselem (https://www.btselem.org/publications/fulltext/202101_this_is_apartheid), Human Rights Watch (<https://www.hrw.org/report/2021/04/27/threshold-crossed/israeli-authorities-and-crimes-apartheid-and-persecution>), alongside scholars and activists around the globe. For decades the ostensible peace process has perpetuated Israel’s land grabs and the violent displacement of Palestinians under the fictions of military necessity. Justice is long overdue.

We are inspired by the bravery and perseverance of a united Palestinian people—in the Occupied West Bank, East Jerusalem, Gaza, and within the 1948 borders—as they resist the violence of the Israeli military, settler militias, and lynch mobs. And yet we also know they should not have to continue to bear the incalculable costs of decades of injustice. We recognize that peace with justice is not possible under conditions of military occupation, existential erasure, and unending settler-colonial expansionism.

We call for an immediate end to the siege on Gaza and the colonization of Jerusalem, the West Bank, and beyond. We stand squarely in support of inalienable Palestinian rights that are enshrined in international law. Palestinians have the right to live in freedom.

Palestinians have the right to remain in their residences. Palestinians dispossessed by the State of Israel have the right to return home.

We endorse the Palestine and Praxis open letter and call to action (<https://palestineandpraxis.weebly.com>), affirming our own commitments to speaking out in defense of the rights and dignity of the Palestinian people as well as foundational principles of scholarly integrity and academic freedom.

The Palestinian struggle is fundamentally entwined with many other movements for equality, justice, and liberation both within the United States and around the world to which we are deeply dedicated and indeed obligated. We join a global community of people of conscience in recommitting ourselves to working against all forms of racism, colonialism, and injustice at University of Washington, in the classroom, on campus, and beyond.
